REGIONAL PRESIDENT'S REPORT Terese Goodson

My last two months as your Region 14 president are quickly coming to a close. Thank you for giving me this opportunity to serve as your liaison with AHS/ADS. I have already visited all the Display Gardens in Region 14, including the third new one I've certified this summer. Debbie and Kenny Hatten's garden, Chisel Ridge, in Perkinston, MS, is just a short drive from Hattiesburg. It would be worth a visit next year if you are attending the Region 14 meeting.

I am also making the last couple of visits to clubs in Region 14 before Henry Little assumes the role of president on January 1, 2019. It has been a pleasure to meet with so many of you. Thanks for your Southern hospitality!

I can't leave office without thanking the officers of Region 14 for their support and assistance. Oliver Billingslea has officially resigned as Region 14 Director and as your Newsletter Editor. His Summer/Fall edition of The Dixie Daylily may be his best effort to date! Oliver has been such a resource to me personally and to all national and regional daylily enthusiasts. His expertise will be missed. Remember, the Winter issue of the magazine will be online only. Don't miss it!

Debbie Smith, Regional Publicity Director, now has two hats to wear. Besides being RPD, she has assumed the responsibility of Director for AL/MS. I am pleased that she was willing to serve in both capacities. I can't think of anyone more qualified. She will continue to be an outstanding daylily advocate for all of us.

Jim Chappell has served with me as treasurer for the past two years. His financial records are meticulous and the audit reviews each year have come out clean. He has been an asset to this region.

Janet Green and Beverly Odom have both served as secretary during my tenure and both of these ladies have kept an accurate record of business meetings and have shared the minutes through the Region 14 newsletter. Beverly will continue to serve in this capacity.

You will soon be receiving information about the Facebook auction for AHS/ADS. Take a minute to look at the many items available and make your bid. What fun!

Have you already renewed your membership in AHS/ADS? I recently visited the Northeast Alabama Hosta, Iris, and Daylily Society and was thrilled to have three new membership forms in my hands by the end of the meeting. The covered dish dinner was a bonus, the plant swap was fun, and I learned about some new edible plants from Larry Chandler, the guest speaker.

If you are not receiving The Daylily Journal and The Dixie Daylily, you are not a current member of the American Daylily Society. The magazines are worth the cost of membership—such a wealth of information! The daylily photography makes me want to plant more and more daylilies in the garden.

Meridian Daylily Club hosted a very smooth fall meeting in October. Thank you! This may be a small club, but everyone pitched in to make the effort of sponsoring the meeting look easy. Bill Waldrop of Kennesaw Mountain Daylilies was an enjoyable speaker. (I recently revised Nancy Falck's guide for hosting a spring meeting to make it reflect the guidelines for hosting a fall meeting. I'd be happy to share this with you.)

It's mid-October, but I'm going outside now to plant some new daylilies. Do we ever have enough for our gardens?

Terese Goodson

RPD'S REPORT, FALL 2018 Debbie D. Smith

As I sit writing this, we have had our first dose of cool weather and our daylily season is over for the year except for the Christmas parties. I have my stacks of catalogues and magazines put aside for inclement weather and planning for next year. The Fall Regional Meeting in Meridian, Mississippi, hosted by the Meridian Club, was a great success. The convention center was a great site and had room for everything. Bill and Diana Waldrop were the guest speakers. When Bill gets excited it is easy to see why he was such a great courtroom advisory. We are all looking forward to seeing his flower in the movie "The Mule" which will be out by the time you read this.

We have already had several planning meetings for the 2019 Spring Regional in Hattiesburg, Mississippi. The speakers are planned, the timing laid out, the chairs appointed; all that remains is fleshing out the details and dealing with the last-minute emergencies that will occur. It will be a great meeting. The registration form is on the Region 14 and HADS Club websites and in this issue of The Dixie Daylily. I am looking forward to seeing you there.

Henry Little will be our Regional President next year and he has been working hard to get everything organized. There will be some changes: namely Paul Aucoin, our Webmaster, is retiring after many years of faithful service to allow him to travel without restrictions. I would like to thank him for all his help and guidance over the years. Chuck Holcomb will be taking his place. His email is chuck.holcomb@comcast.net As always, when you have changes that need to be made to the website, please send them to me and I will inform the appropriate people. We do not have a new Editor for The Dixie Daylily as of now, but Henry Little is searching. If you have any ideas, please let him know.

I was very pleased with the results of the Popularity Poll this year. Out of 310 ADS/AHS members in Region 14 we had 141 votes. That was enough to give us 1st place nationwide!

Our top winners are:

1	Suburban Nancy Gayle	52
2	Banana Smoothie	37
3	Emma's Curls	33
4	Look Here Mary	30

5	Sebastian the Crab	29
5	Webster's Pink Wonder	29
6	Lillian's Legends and Lies	26
7	Dorothy and Toto	25
7	Double Blue Blood	25
7	South Sea Enchantment	25
8	Lava Flow	23
9	Coffee to Go	22
9	King Kahuna	22
10	God Save the Queen	21

I would like to thank everyone who took the time to vote. If you would like the entire results, please let me know and I will mail you one.

Thank you for taking the time to read this and I hope to see you soon.

Debbie D. Smith

MINUTES, FALL MEETING 2018 BEVERLY ODOM, SECRETARY

The AHS Region 14 fall business meeting was held at the Northeast Conference Center in Meridian, MS, on Saturday, October 6, 2018.

Lois Smith, President of the Meridian Daylily Club, welcomed members to the meeting.

Region 14 President, Terese Goodson, called the meeting to order and thanked the Meridian Daylily Club for hosting the fall meeting. President Goodson announced the certification of three new display gardens in the region this year: Daylily Hollow, Philip and Beverly Odom, Collins-ville, MS; Chisel Ridge, Kenny and Debbie Hatten, Perkinston, MS; and Whetstone Garden On The Lake, Mabrey and Charlotte Whetstone, Titus, AL. She encouraged members to visit them during bloom season. President Goodson then took a moment to acknowledge members who are ill.

Regional Secretary, Beverly Odom, was asked to stand and read the minutes from the 2018 Spring meeting. President Goodson asked if there were any corrections to the minutes. Nancy Chain called for a correction to state that 3 people attended the Garden Judges I clinic, not that "3 people attended the 2 clinics." The correction was made and the minutes were approved as corrected.

Regional Treasurer, Jim Chappell, read the Treasurer's report. The ending balance was $18,765.53. President Goodson asked for any corrections to the report. There was a motion to accept the report as stated and the report was approved.

Reports were given as follows:

Regional Publicity Director, Debbie Smith, reported that out of 310 Region 14 members, 141 voted in the Region 14 Popularity Poll, giving us 46% and winning the ADS contest. The next closest region had 43%. She then announced the top 10 winners of the Popularity poll. Hemerocallis 'Suburban Nancy Gayle' took 1st place with 52 votes. H. 'Banana Smoothie' took 2nd place with 37 votes. 'Emma's Curls' took 3rd place with 33 votes.

Winter 2018

The Dixie Daylily Editor and Region 14 Director, Oliver Billingslea, thanked everyone for their support and encouraged members to send articles and club news for the Winter edition of The Dixie Daylily. The deadline is December 15, 2018; it will be an online only edition. The deadline for the new ADS Logo submission is October 18, 2018. Meg Ryan will be retiring as the Editor of The Daylily Journal, December 31, 2018.

Garden Judges Liaison, Nancy Chain, encouraged more members to become garden judges. There are 38 Garden Judges at the present time. She encouraged members to read the article in The Daylily Journal about being a garden judge.

Exhibition Judges Liaison, John Falck, encouraged more members to become exhibition judges to ensure there are enough judges to judge shows. He also reported that Clinic I can be taken online, and Clinic III can now be taken online as a webinar.

Historian, Sarah Lunsford - No report

Membership, Glenda Woods, reported that she would continue to contact new members to encourage participation in daylily clubs, display gardens, and to make them aware of the publications.

Webmaster, Paul Aucoin – No report Protocol, Jack Harrison – No report Youth, Tricia Folks – No report Scientific Studies, Jason Fleishman – No report

Unfinished Business:

President Goodson thanked the Montgomery Area Daylily Society for hosting the Spring Meeting in Montgomery. She reported that due to cost savings from the venue, etc., they were able to return $1000 to the Region 14 treasury from that event. Henry Little made a motion that the money be returned to the treasury.

Henry Little was nominated to become Regional President at the spring meeting. The membership voted and the nomination was approved. He will begin as Regional President, January 1, 2019.

A nominating committee was named to select a Regional Director for the 2020-2022 term. Members are B.J. Yance, Phyllis Riddle, and Pat Wente. Their report will be given at the spring meeting in Hattiesburg, MS.

New Business:

Oliver Billingslea resigned as the Region 14 Director. As appointed by the ADS President, Debbie Smith was named the new Director to begin October 26, 2018. (If a director retires before the end of his/her term, the national President appoints the replacement director.) Oliver Billingslea offered to return $150 to the treasury to be used by the new director for expenses for the remainder of the term. Jason Fleishman made a motion to return the funds; Gary Campbell seconded the motion. A vote was called and the motion carried. After serving as the Newsletter Editor from 2004-2018, Oliver's last issue as editor will be the Winter 2018 issue. To save the Region money, it will be an online only issue. The deadline for submissions is December 15, 2018. Incoming Region 14 President, Henry Little, will appoint the next editor.

A funding request to set aside up to $500 for equipment/materials for the new editor of The Dixie Daylily was discussed. Jeanie Kilpatrick made a motion to do so; John Falck seconded the motion. A vote was called and the motion carried.

In an effort to improve the Region's finances, it was suggested that the editor's stipend of $1000 per year be changed to a per need basis of actual expenses to be reimbursed. Debbie Smith called for a motion. Bonnie Lingel seconded the motion. A vote was called and the motion carried.

Oliver Billingslea announced the winners of the Region 14 Photography awards: Single Bloom category -Hank Immler; Multi Bloom Category – Kay Cline; Landscape Category – Kay Cline; Daylilies With Companion Plants – Beverly Odom; Artistic Category – Mickey Immler.

The Photography Contest will be continued in 2019, submissions due by June 21, 2019.

The 2017 David Hall Memorial Award for the top cultivar in the popularity poll was awarded to Earl Watts for H. 'Suburban Nancy Gayle'.

Paul Aucoin will retire as Region 14 Webmaster December 31, 2018.

The North Alabama Daylily Society will sponsor the Sally Lake Award in the future, beginning with the Spring 2019 Regional Meeting in Hattiesburg, MS.

Henry Little made a motion to increase the amount given to the clubs hosting the spring and fall meetings by $500 each to help with expenses which would allow other clubs to host that couldn't before. Gary Campbell seconded the motion. A vote was called and the motion carried.

President Goodson thanked The Meridian Daylily Club again for hosting the meeting.

Announcements:

The Marion County Daylily Society in MS was dissolved in December 2017, as affirmed by Roger Carr.

Region 14 hybridizers B.J. and Carolyn Yance were recognized in the Fall 2018 issue of The Daylily Journal, in an article written by Terese Goodson.

Donations were made to the AHS General Fund, the AHS "100 Giving $100" fund, and the William E. Monroe Endowment Trust Fund by several Region 14 members.

The 2019 National AHS Convention will be held in Middleton, WI, July 10 - 13.

The Region 14 Spring Meeting will be held in Hattiesburg, MS on May 24-25, 2019. Registration forms are posted online and in The Dixie Daylily.

Respectfully submitted,

Beverly Odom

DIRECTOR'S REPORT, FALL 2018 DEBBIE D. SMITH

This is my first Director's Report, so here goes: the 2018 ADS/AHS Fall Board meeting was held in Savannah, Georgia, on October 27, 2018, at The DeSoto Hotel and hosted by the Ogeechee Daylily Society. They will be hosting the 2020 Spring National Convention. This is another small club that will show what they can do by pulling together, and it will be different than other conventions before it. The convention will be held during the week to take advantage of better pricing at an historic hotel and have a day of city tours on the tour buses that you can get on and off at each destination of your choice. The next day there will be two main daylily gardens, Maneki Neko of Scott and Dominique Elliott and the revamped Joiner Gardens. We will also visit the Savannah Botanical Garden. It should be very interesting.

When I think of daylilies, I think of plants and dirt, sunshine and blooms. The most formal part of daylilies for me has been a show, and even there I am working the entire time. So, a Board meeting was different, formal but still all about daylilies. Everyone was pleasant and very welcoming. I now have faces to go with several names. Everyone was encouraged to express his/her opinions and each was listened to attentively. I was named as Exhibition Judges Chair for 2019 and am on several committees.

After much deliberation, it was decided to continue to use the ADS/AHS form to allow enough time for everyone to assimilate the change before the AHS is dropped in the literature. The Website and the Portal will continue to be updated in blocks, and the new Webmaster is Jason Braun. The new editor of The Daylily Journal will be Adele Koehan from Region 4. She will work with Meg Ryan for the remainder of year and take over in January 2019.

H. 'Entwined in the Vine' (Emmerich 2007) 2018 Stout Silver Medal

We voted for the various awards: The Electronic Media Award, the various 2019 Regional Service Awards, The Steve Moldovan Mentoring Award, The Bertrand Farr Silver Medal, and The Helen Field Fischer Gold Medal for Service at the National level—all of which will be announced at the 2019 National Spring Meeting in Middleton, Wisconsin. The 2018 Lenington All American Award went to Hemerocallis 'White Eyes Pink Dragon' (Gossard, 2006), an unusual form crispate. As voted upon earlier by garden Judges, the 2018 Stout Silver Medal went to H. 'Entwined in the Vine' (Emmerich 2007).

H. 'White Eyes Pink Dragon' (Gossard 2006) 2018 Lenington All-American Award

The online Exhibitions Judges Refresher Clinics have been a huge success. I will be working to update the records process for Exhibition judges during the next year. The Garden Judging Handbook is being revised and will be available for electronic download on the ADS/AHS website and through Amazon at the first of the year. There are no other books in the pipeline currently.

The 3rd Annual Facebook Auction will be held January 20-26, 2019, with 100% of the proceeds going to the ADS/AHS General Fund. Once again, in support of this auction, we have a one-of-a-kind birdhouse from Arthur Woods made of reclaimed materials, a hand-crafted bowl from Dr. Wayne McLaurin, and a collection of daylilies from John & Nancy Falck. Thank you to all of them. Be sure and take the time to look at these items and support our Region's contributions.

Please remember to send in your membership dues during the busy holiday season ahead. Thank you.

Dígital Photography Awards Guídelínes for 2019

Region 14 is again sponsoring Photography Awards for 2019.

Images will be accepted until June 21, 2019. Please e-mail as attachments to the Photography Liaison. Do not reduce the size of images. They need to be sent large enough, preferably 1MB to 6MB, for our editor to be able to print them in our regional newsletter. Images sent at less than 500 KB cannot be accepted.

Rules and guidelines:

Again this year, there are five categories.

- (1) Single bloom (the photograph may be of any registered cultivar)
- (2) Multi-bloom or cultivar clump (must be of a registered cultivar)
- (3) Daylilies with companion plants
- (4) Daylilies in the landscape
- (5) Artistic image

Photographers may submit up to five (5) entries in each category. Each attachment should be labeled as to category with additional information supplied in the e-mail.

In the category of single bloom, the photographer must identify the cultivar, its hybridizer, its year of registration, and the garden in which the photo was taken.

The same applies for the multi-bloom or cultivar clump, the latter of which should show the foliage, the scapes, and the flowers to give a total picture.

In the daylilies with companion plants category, the photographer must identify the most prominent daylilies in the picture, as well as the most prominent companion plants. The photographer must also identify the garden in which the photo was taken.

In the landscape category, the photographer may, if he or she wishes, identify some of the daylilies, but must identify the garden in which the photo was taken. No people should appear in the photo.

The artistic category should stress uniqueness in subject and composition.

The photographer must be an AHS Region 14 member.

A panel of three judges will evaluate all entries in respect to focus, color, and composition.

Region 14 will present a certificate plus a cash award of $25 in each of the five categories, and the winning entries will be published in the 2019 Summer/Fall issue of The Dixie Daylily. An awards presentation will be held at the Region 14 Fall Meeting.

Please send your images by June 21, 2019, to:

HELEN FIELD FISCHER GOLD MEDAL

1950-2018

Established in 1950, this is the Society's highest honor and is the official recognition for distinguished and meritorious service rendered the AHS by a member on the national level. It is named for the founder of the American Hemerocallis Society. In general this award should honor only one person annually, but two awards have been given on occasion. A dual award to two members of the same family will count as one. Nominations may be submitted by any AHS member to the AHS Awards & Honors Chairman by mail or email. Nominations are due by September 1st for the upcoming year. The AHS Board votes by secret ballot at the annual fall board meeting, and the award is presented at the following AHS National Convention.

The Lenington All-American Award 1970-2018

The Lenington All-American Award is given to cultivars that are adaptable over a wide geographic area. Its method of selection is different from that of the Stout Silver Medal. Whereas the Stout award is voted annually by AHS Garden Judges, the Lenington award is selected by the AHS Board of Directors from a slate prepared by the Awards & Honors Chair. In 1970, to encourage the development of daylilies that would perform in most parts of the country, George E. Lenington, of Kansas City, Missouri, originated the Lenington All-American Award. In 1955, in recognition of his service to the Society, George Lenington was honored with the Helen Field Fisher Award, the Society's highest honor. In 1970, he received the Bertrand Farr Award, for outstanding accomplishments in the field of hybridizing. There have been 48 recipients.

SIRI Is Out, But My GPS Is In!! Region 14 Display Gardens in a Nutshell

by Terese Goodson

I looked up "Siri" on the Internet and was a bit surprised to read that she is a personal digital assistant who understands relationships and context and can do things for you. She is supposed to keep you connected and informed. Yeah, right! Siri and I have been together for years and we STILL have not bonded. I can't count on her for help, so I usually don't even bother to try. On the other hand, I have fallen in love with my GPS. He has guided me through all the back roads and rural hideaways in Alabama and Mississippi where Region 14's Display Gardens are located. It may have taken me two years, but we have been a successful team as we visited 20 different gardens together.

The Hattens' Chisel Ridge Garden in Perkinston, MS, is the newest Display Garden in the region. It began as an old inherited farm site and has since become home to over 500 daylilies in a variety of large, sweeping beds. A long, rectangular bed lines the driveway and separates the mowed pastures from the garden areas. Birdhouses, a bottle tree, yard art, numerous trees, and unusual plants add to the appeal of this garden. I'm grateful that I just get to enjoy the natural beauty here rather than keep that property mowed! Kenny and Debbie are enjoying retirement and their lovely flowers. Their sweet little grandson should grow up planting daylilies, too!

Suburban Daylilies in Hattiesburg, MS, is familiar to most daylily lovers throughout Alabama and Mississippi. Barbara and Earl Watts have shared their beautiful garden overlooking the waters of Lake Serene for many years with numerous visitors. When Hattiesburg was named the first "Daylily City" in the United States, it was because this couple spent years behind the scenes promoting daylilies and serving as mentors to the Hattiesburg Area Daylily Society. Earl's Hemerocallis 'Suburban Nancy Gayle' (2004) can be seen at rest stops all over MS since it was named the 2015 Mississippi Medallion Award Winner. A large clump of this lovely cultivar greets visitors at the front driveway entrance to the garden. An array of birdhouses tucked around the property brings a smile to everyone's face. Besides having a huge collection of daylilies, this garden is host to Asiatic lilies, trellising vines, blueberry and blackberry bushes, and a host of other plants and foliage. Suburban hosted the Sally Lake Bed for the 2017 spring meeting. Daylilies for sale are in pots and arranged on a plastic tarp for easy selection, but you have to get to the garden early. The pots disappear quickly when daylily enthusiasts arrive.

A hidden gem in the Vestavia-Birmingham, AL, area is Tabby Tails Garden, hosted by Edna Alderman. A tiny guest house beckons you to stop for a while and enjoy the many views of this terraced garden. Daylilies are tucked away under evergreens, near Japanese maples, and next to the cannas. A huge variety of colorful plants draws the eye and ample garden art keeps visitors smiling at the whimsy. The Dixie Daylily

"Delightful Doubles" Bed at Daylily Hollow

A bench next to a shrimp plant tree gives you a chance to admire this unusual specimen. No one would guess what is hidden in this back yard. Don't miss this garden! Plan to stay for a while.

Daylily Hollow may be new for the region, but it has many areas of interest to enjoy for any daylily enthusiast. Philip Odom prepared this garden site as a gift for his wife, Beverly. Beds are listed with captivating names-Marvelous Miniatures, Delightful Doubles, Unique Unusual Form, etc.-who wouldn't want to explore? An AHS Historic Bed boasts over 285 cultivars hybridized before 1980. Bird baths, statues, trellises, and other details add to the charm at the Hollow. Cars often line the street just to admire the sweeping beauty visible from the road. Garden clubs and Master Gardeners can't wait to visit and photograph the many flowers happily blooming. Come see for yourself! Beverly posts lovely flower photos on Facebook. She also has won Region 14 photography awards for her work. Oh, this would also be a great time to say "thanks" to Beverly for continuing to serve as the Region 14 secretary. Winter 2018

If you are looking for a peaceful hideaway on Lake Jordan in Titus, AL, then you must stop to visit the Whetstone Garden by the Lake. Charlotte and Mabrey Whetstone will greet you with iced tea and then let you travel around the lakefront property and see mounds of daylilies waving at the passing boats on the water. Clumps of red, orange, and yellow daylilies waving in the breeze have many boaters pulling up near the dock just to admire the scenery. What a great way to promote our favorite flower! Pots of hostas line the driveway, followed by birdhouses galore, and other whimsical yard art. A wall of Asiatic lilies in a variety of colors is breathtaking. These former teachers/school administrators have found peace in the garden as they enjoy a well-deserved retirement.

My GPS got me close to Dunn's Daylily Garden in Hayden, AL, but this time my good friend failed me. This garden was truly a rural treasure! I knew I had arrived to the right place when I saw an entire front fence covered in zinnias! DeLois Dunn was sorting the peaches she had picked that morning and was a welcome sight to this weary traveler. Besides being a daylily garden, this is a working farm for cattle and seasonal vegetables – the work may never end, but the joy and beauty of this location stay in your heart. DeLois has built a huge following in the community for her fried pies filled with fruit from the garden, but you would have to get to the local farmers market and festivals quite early to ever grab one for yourself. This Display Garden boasts many lovely plants that complement daylilies and the beds extend across the property. It is a destination in itself.

The long, straight driveway in Fairhope leads directly to Hem Haven, the delightful garden of Nancy and John Falck. You can't miss the historic daylily section, or the miniatures, the Stout collection, the doubles, a UFO bed, plus many other lovely cultivars. Both of these daylily enthusiasts are hybridizers. It is a joy to see Nancy's newest doubles. John's *H.'Emma's Curls' (2011) is one of my personal favorites. The latest seeds have already been planted and rows of new daylilies are already beginning to appear in the soil mixture. Sale daylilies are available in pots, alphabetically arranged. Stay awhile. This garden has plenty of beds and garden areas to keep your attention.

The Huntsville Botanical Garden has hosted numerous daylily meetings and activities. The daylily gardens are always a joy to visit and photograph. Rosa Belle Van

Valkenburgh, the local liaison for the garden, was honored by having the daylily section in the garden named after her. Luckily, a group of volunteers maintains this section of approximately 800 cultivars for all to enjoy. Beds of colorful spring flowers are everywhere, as are raised vegetable gardens, unusual trees, wonderful artwork, and beauty everywhere. The North Alabama Daylily Society is so fortunate to have their meetings conducted in this location. Winter 2018

Nancy and Edd Chain's FigLily Acres, Sumrall, MS, has been one of the gardens on display for the Spring Region 14 meeting when Hattiesburg hosts. So many treasures are in view, from garden art to companion plants to clumps of daylilies. Unexpected finds include a wagon filled with colorful annuals, a wheelbarrow mounding with creeping jenny, another with caladiums, and pots covered in elephant ears and coleus—how fun! Color combinations in the beds are delightful. One perfect example of this was the H. 'Suburban Virginia Kirkpatrick' (Watts 2008) display. The yellow daylily and pink verbena complemented each other very well. This garden was also home to the largest shrimp plant I have ever seen—simply lovely!

Another garden on tour for the spring regional meeting was Connie and Don Montgomery's Montgomery Gar- dens in Hattiesburg. When they first hosted in the garden, Connie was as nervous as she could be. Fast forward to now and the gardens boast a Stout Medal Collection, a Lenington Awards garden, miniatures, and other sections. New beds have been added to accommodate additional cultivars, each with wide pathways for easy viewing. There is so much added whimsy here that you don't want to miss any of it. Potted plants, succulents, Peruvian lilies, caladiums, etc., all add to the interest. The double Rose of Sharon bushes are colorful and add a nice background.

I have visited Lilies of the Field in Midland City, AL, several times over the past few years and my GPS has faithfully led me there each time. Carolyn and B. J. Yance were tour hosts when Dothan hosted the spring meeting for Region 14 and they graciously opened their garden to a busload of daylily lovers from the Montgomery Area Daylily Society as part of a three day trek. When I was asked to submit an article to The Daylily Journal about one of the region's hybridizers, I made another visit this spring to collect more background information on the garden. How nice it was to discover not one, but two hybridizers! The cackling chickens will announce your arrival and B. J. will hop on a golf cart and drive you all over the acreage. You will be glad you are riding in the cart because this garden extends forever. Huge greenhouses allow both the Yances ample space for hybridizing and evaluating new seedlings. Numerous seating areas are scattered throughout the garden so visitors can sit and enjoy the statuary, wishing well, lovely companion plants, and just the garden's sweeping beauty. Take a trip down to the Wiregrass area of Alabama. You won't regret it.

If you are close to Childersburg, AL, be sure to stop by Kahatchee Gardens, home to Arthur and Glenda Woods. If you are especially lucky, Glenda may fix a batch of her homemade banana pudding for you to enjoy after the visit. Arthur's woodworking skills will be in evidence as you meander paths to the daylilies, irises, and a host of other plants.

Look carefully for his unique birdhouses. Arthur has donated several of these one of a kind creations to Region 14 for auctions and his work has caused a stir during the AHS/ADS Facebook online auctions. This particular visit came right after a Sunday afternoon rain, but it didn't dampen anyone's enthusiasm for daylilies. I noticed many changes to this garden from my prior visit. New beds and walkways and many new cultivars have been added. A large variety of stunning irises in an array of color were in bloom. Companion plants and annuals join the garden art and trellises. Large rocks add an interesting border to several of the beds. The Woods family sells daylilies and irises from their garden. They are one of the few Display Gardens that do, so be sure to bring your checkbook! You are unlikely to leave empty handed.

When my GPS directed me to travel into Louisiana to head to Rolling Oaks Daylilies in Picayune, MS, I knew I was in big trouble. Region 14 only supports gardens in AL/ MS, so how could this be? I pulled over and looked at a map of Mississippi, and there it was-you head into LA for just a short while to connect to I-59. What a relief! My wonderful GPS still hadn't failed me. I was just being a "doubting Thomas" for a few nervous moments. Back on the road again in minutes, it didn't take long to spot Kay and Gerard Cline's flower filled garden. Hanging ferns adorn the porch bordered by colorful coleus. The butterflies and hummingbirds must love the angelonias, zinnias, and salvias tucked in throughout the beds. A banana plant and a tall morning glory vine are unexpected finds. Garden statues make happy additions to the yard art. Live oaks cool the house and give visitors a respite from the heat. Head out to the back and your eye is drawn to acres of daylilies with easy to walk paths. This garden is what flower lovers dream about as they plan their own designs. No wonder Kay has won many Region 14 photography awards!

Because Warrior, AL, is a bedroom community to Birmingham, I expected Chappell Gardens to be a small, rural home site. It was quite a nice surprise to head out to the back yard and notice that it looked like it spread out for miles. Kay and Jim Chappell have a lovely property and daylilies are in abundance. The various elevations of the land make the views even more spectacular. A fluffy red kitty watches my every move as I admire the huge garden area. Brick lined paths head towards a lovely rose arbor and you'll pass bed after bed of daylilies, each carefully marked with locations. I should have done that in my garden years ago! Your eye is drawn to the blue bottle tree and the iris in full bloom. The cooler temperatures in this area must make the iris very happy and healthy. Garden art, statuary, a soothing fountain, and colorful containers filled with flowers and hostas all add to the visual picture. A "Pottin' Shed" looks like a very useful building. How Kay and Jim have managed to be such resources to Region 14 and STILL maintain this beautiful garden is beyond me! Thanks, Jim, for your continued service as treasurer for AL/MS.

Diamond Valley Garden in Guntersville, AL, is home to two more Region 14 hybridizers, Martha and Jim Brazelton. You'll be close to lovely Guntersville Lake as you head to the outskirts of town to discover this garden treasure. Newly erected beds, long seedling beds, rectangular beds lined with a decorative brick border, beds near a lake that Jim developed—all of these add to the sense of quiet and serenity in this garden. The trickling sound of water stems from a rock waterfall; again, another of Jim's creations. Coneflowers, containers filled with flowers, a large blue bottle tree, and a "rogue" BAMA sign lead you to the shaded carport and beckon you to have a seat and rest a bit. Martha and Jim acted like proud parents as they commented on their newest seedlings in the front of the house. It must be fun to awaken and visit your "babies" first thing every morning during bloom season!

The Osher Lifelong Learning Institute in Hattiesburg, MS, was a Region 14 Display Garden for many years as part of the campus of the University of Southern Mississippi. Sadly, as budgets were cut for building and grounds maintenance at USM, the daylily garden at this site could no longer be supported and maintained and the Display Garden sign was removed. One sign remains though, honoring Jon Tibbetts, a longtime Director for the program, "for dedication and work to beautify the OLLI garden".

The GPS led me to Shantih Daylily Garden in Bluff Park, AL, only to find the street was closed for road repairs. A few wrong turns around several neighborhood streets, then I was back in business for a visit with Judi and Paul Aucoin. If the last name sounds familiar, it is because Paul has served as webmaster for Region 14 for more years than I can remember. Since retirement and travel opportunities are loudly calling, Paul has resigned his position, effective at the end of 2018. Thanks, Paul, for all of your service to AL/MS. The Shantih Garden was a delight to visit. Daylilies line the driveway and are also arranged as a partial border in the front yard. A Japanese maple at the entrance is a burgundy marvel. The garden has several terraced levels behind the house overlooking a small or large stream, depending on the weather. (Lawn furniture, plants, and other items were swept downstream a few years back during a raging storm.) Repurposed garden art, spectacular concrete and metal benches, and large wind sculptures keep the eyes focused on each foliage filled level. A passionflower vine was unexpected, as was a huge spotted lily adorning the walkway. It's sad that this garden will not be a Display Garden in 2019. The travel bug is just too strong for these two active retirees to stay home!

I visited two additional Region 14 Display Gardens in 2017 but, unfortunately, they are no longer on the current roster. Terah and Jesse George of JTM Gardens are both well-known daylily hybridizers and many of you still enjoy H. 'Banana Smoothie' (George-T. 2006), the 2017 Ned Roberts Spider/Unusual Form Award Winner; 'Double Blueblood' (George-T. 2005); and the Coach's series of daylilies. My son and I enjoyed hopping on the golf carts and getting a short history of the garden from either Jessie's or Terah's perspective. While the Georges may have downsized, their green peppers and tomatoes were still plentiful and we went home with bags of garden treasures. The Bleeding Heart Vine cutting they shared is blooming as I write this article. Thanks go to the Georges for being daylily pioneers and avid supporters of this region.

Sarah Lunsford's Garden in Brent, AL, was another of those hidden jewels just begging to be found. My GPS was up for the task and I spent time visiting with Sarah, a former teacher colleague from my days at Seth Johnson School in Montgomery, AL. Fast forward many years and I had a delightful garden visit and a chance to catch up with Sarah over lunch. Beautiful roses, garden art, an assortment of hostas and ferns, and a grapevine trellis all add to the old fashioned charm in this quiet setting. Large clumps of daylilies fill the beds and the show stopping Japanese maple adds color to the front entrance. While the garden may no longer be on display, Sarah continues to serve Region 14 as historian. Thanks, Sarah, for your willingness to keep us on target!

As you follow my many travels adventures, I hope that I have tweaked your interest and you will consider visiting many of these gardens as you travel across Region 14. Call first and schedule a time with garden owners. Take a group of friends or daylily club members and visit several gardens in a day. Find a great place to stop for lunch. Trust me, all of this can be arranged as a day trip, but I would also recommend that your trusty GPS or cell phone be along for the ride. Enjoy those gorgeous blooms!

Editor's Note:

It was mid-August after we had published our Summer/Fall issue of The Dixie Daylily that I decided we could do one more on-line only issue for the year without cost to the Region. I knew that our AHS Region 14 President, Terese Goodson, had visited every Region 14 Display Garden during her tenure, so I asked her if she would write an article about her visits for our final issue. Although she had not always been able to visit the gardens during peak bloom season, she cheerfully agreed to write the article and supply photos for each garden. The result is this beautifully crafted article with its many lovely images.

Travels with My Camera: Highlights of Myrtle Beach

by Oliver Billingslea

In June of this year, I had the pleasure of traveling to Myrtle Beach, SC, to attend the AHS National Convention. As Director for Region 14, it was my duty to participate in the always interesting Board Meeting, but visiting each of the six gardens on tour made the trip especially fun. I got to renew many acquaintances, and for the first time I got to meet the young man, Edvinas Misiukevičius, from Lithuania. He turned out to be my bus companion both days, and we had the opportunity to share a lot of information about daylilies. He has been an active participant in the Daylily Robin for several years and is the artist who did the silk screen painting of Hemerocallis 'Heavenly United We Stand' for the Myrtle Beach auction. I also got to meet Professor Zhiguo Zhang of the Shanghai Institute of Technology in China. He was pleased to purchase several of my books and have me sign them. He was most gracious and presented me with a lovely framed copy of a silk screen painting of H. 'Kwanso'. John Baker, whom I had met before, was there from Linford, England, and purchased six copies of The Open Form Daylily book for British friends.

The first garden we toured was Canterbury Gardens, the garden of Johnny and Odessa Bourne, located in Andrews, SC. Hundreds of plants by numerous hybridizers graced this well-landscaped suburban lot.

While it is sometimes difficult to photograph daylilies in close proximity, there is often the respite of a partially shaded area filled with hostas and coleus. (Photo by Oliver Billingslea)

A well-grown clump of H. 'Orchid Elegance' (Carpenter-J. 2004) proved to be very photogenic at Canterbury Gardens.

A lovely planting of hostas, coleus, and colorful impatiens in the Bourne Garden is granted access by a curving brick walkway. Two iron benches painted red provide ample seating. (Photo by Oliver Billingslea)

The second garden we visited was Browns Ferry Garden, located in Georgetown, SC. A large commercial daylily nursery and AHS Display Garden, owned and operated by Charles and Heidi Douglas, it features the introductions of Heidi and Charles plus those of Gene Tanner, together with selected favorites used in their hybridizing program. Presently, more than 10,000 seedlings are being evaluated, several of which were outstanding.

A large display bed, flanked by a wood fence decorated with garden art, runs the length of the front garden. Orange cannas and Knockout roses provide additional interest. (Photo by Oliver Billingslea)

In the main display area, H. 'Muddy Creek Magic' (Tanner-G. 2015) was particularly elegant. This pink with a lemon to cream to green throat is a diploid. (Photo by Oliver Billingslea)

It is rare that I feature seedlings in our newsletter, but I found both of these interesting in their own right: the first, #H 14-24, because it sports blooms that are actually opening a day in advance of fully opening; and the second, #H 14-13, also from Heidi Douglas, because it is distinctive, featuring a halo that compliments its petal edges and sepals. (Photos by Oliver Billingslea)

Perhaps the most unexpected garden on the Myrtle Beach tour was the one called "I Can't Believe It's a Dip," owned and operated by Ed Zahler and his friend Duane Thierren. Both fellows were seated at our dinner table, so we struck up a pleasant conversation about their hybridizing programs. Since their garden is located in Conway, SC, less than a mile off Hwy 501, I was able to stop by on Sunday morning a second time on my way back to Montgomery, AL.

Ed Zahler began his hybridizing career developing miniatures, the most famous of which are H. 'Dash Dash' (Zahler 1989) and 'Dot Dot' (Zahler 1989). Both were still growing in large clumps at the garden. But in the past several years, he and his friend Duane have begun developing diploids with large flowers that look and perform a lot like tetraploids.

Afourth gorgeous garden, also located in Conway, SC, was Southern Charm Gardens, which are actually two gardens in Ann and Marion Howell and Lloyd and Jeanette Howell have created a lovely setting in adjoining yards for their more than 700 cultivars. Jeanette's garden art highlighted the ambiance of the total garden.

In respect to flowers, the highlight of Southern Charm Gardens on the day we visited was Heidi Douglas' diploid, Hemerocallis 'Breathing in Snowflakes'. This cultivar was beautiful in several gardens, but especially here. It went on the capture the President's Cup.

Our fifth stop was the Don Albers Garden, located in Murrells Inlet, SC. The property was once a hog farm, a throwback to the days when this part of South Carolina was largely rural. What was most impressive to me in the garden were the Albers seedlings, many of them dark, nearly black. I picked out one that I thought had good branching and good form, and Don agreed in that he had given it a number. What was especially intriguing is that it had a deep burgundy midrib enhancing the black purple flower.

Brookgreen Gardens

This amazing garden, founded by Archer and Anna Hyatt Huntington, is a jewel amidst the Lowcountry region in South Carolina. Created "to provide a backdrop for Anna's larger than life sculptures," the garden also contains an area devoted to native plants and animals, a butterfly house, and the impressive Live Oak Allée, comprised of 250 year-old live oak trees that were planted in the early 1700s when the area consisted largely of rice plantations. The total property consists of 9,127 acres, including waterways and woods. According to one source, the collection of sculptures is one of the largest and most comprehensive in the country. Of special interest to Convention attendees was the Daylily Walk, containing a number of plants hybridized by members of the Georgetown Area Daylily Club.

It boggles the mind to think that these trees in Live Oak Allée were planted before the colonies achieved their independence from the British, at a time when the area consisted of four thriving rice plantations. (Photo by Oliver Billingslea)

Innumerable smaller sculptures are placed throughout the garden, enhanced by beautiful settings.

Blue hydrangeas were in full bloom, such as this planting of Hydrangea 'Endless Summer'. Elsewhere there were numerous lace-caps in bloom as well. (Photo by Oliver Billingslea)

Sculptures featuring Greek motifs were much in evidence throughout the Brookgreen Gardens. Diana, Goddess of the Hunt, was a frequent subject, as in the case of these two companion pieces. On the right the youthful Acteon is being turned into a stag and is being torn by his hounds after having looked upon Diana in the nude (Paul Howard Manship, 1885-1966). (Photos by Oliver Billingslea)

Indeed, there was much nudity displayed throughout the Gardens, but all of it tastefully executed. The gold-clad centerpiece of Dionysus and the panther was beautiful. The Diana Pool featuring the Goddess of the Chase with drawn bow was elegant. The sculpture of Pegasus being tamed by Bellerophon was the largest in size.

In total, there are over 2,000 works in the Gardens by 425 artists. Many of the smaller works are featured in extensive statuary galleries. On the following pages, I have chosen several works which I found exemplary, including the sculpture of Dionysus. They are powerful depictions of the human condition, reflective in Greek, Roman, Hebrew, and Native American mythology.

Nathaniel Choate (1899-1965) was one of the artists prominently featured at Brookgreen Gardens. Born in Southboro, MA, he attended Harvard University, and as a prominent sculptor later worked with various materials, including aluminum, bronze, marble, and onyx. His "Alligator Bender Sculpture" was executed in 1937 and depicts a young man of Native American descent powerfully in control of the primitive beast in nature and in himself. A nna Hyatt Huntington (1876-1973) was one of the great American sculptors of horses and animals. Her most famous sculptures include the equestrian statue of "Joan of Arc" (1910), located on Riverside Drive at 93rd Street, New York; "Fighting Stallions" (1950), located at Brookgreen Gardens, SC; and "The Torch Bearers" (1955) at Ciudad Universitaria, Madrid.

Along with her husband, Archer Milton Huntington (1870-1955), she was responsible for founding America's first sculptural garden, the Brookgreen Gardens in South Carolina. Archer, reportedly one of the twelve richest men in America, was very proud of his wife's works, and he wanted to procure a place to display them, along with other works of the Art Deco period. In 1930 they acquired the property needed. Brookgreen Gardens, near Murrrells Inlet, South Carolina, contains one of the best collections of late 19th and early 20th century sculptures anywhere. It was the first garden in America to be devoted exclusively to statuary.

In October many of our members attended the Region 14 meeting held in Meridian, MS. Our speaker was Bill Waldrop from Kennesaw Mountain Daylilies in Marietta, Georgia. We really enjoyed his presentation of new introductions as well as his hybridizing efforts and stories.

The Meridian Daylily club had provided us with easy access to everything. The hotel and meeting place were great with close restaurants nearby. The members of the club worked hard to make it a great experience for all. We enjoyed seeing old friends and making new friends.

In December we will have our Christmas social which will be at the Red Lobster.

Looking forward to seeing everyone at our meetings.

In July we visited the garden of one of our members, Letha Hazelrig. Letha not only has large beautiful daylilies, but many companion plants as well. There were sweet smelling ginger plants, banana trees, cockscomb, amaryllis, creeping jenny, hibiscus, and many more. There were benches and swings positioned in just the right places to sit and take a break from the hot July heat.

Our annual Ice Cream Social at Delois Dunn's in August was great.

We all got a little wet as some stray showers moved through. But the rain didn't stop the fun. We enjoyed some good food and fellowship followed by delicious homemade ice cream.

At our October meeting we auctioned plants donated by members to pay dues. Everyone's dues got paid, and we all left with a plant. There was even a little money left over to donate to the club.

Since we don't meet in December, we have our Christmas dinner in November. Our club members met at Charlie B's restaurant in Oneonta, AL. We enjoyed a really good meal and desserts. We talked about the past year's achievements and failures, and made plans for the upcoming year of 2019.

We won't meet in January, but will resume our meetings on the 4th Tuesday of February at 10 a.m. Eric Sanders from the Blount County Co-op will be our speaker for the February meeting.

In the absence of President Linda Carleton, Donna Curington presided over both our August and October meetings. The August meeting, in the absence of a speaker, was largely a joyous get together with last minute attention given to voting in the Popularity Poll for those who had not already done so. We all expressed our concern for George Carleton who had undergone surgery, but was slowly recovering.

In October our program was presented by Dr. Wayne McLaurin, retired research professor. Entitled "Oldies But Goodies," his PowerPoint presentation featured older daylilies which he found vigorous. He also shared his appreciation for brown-colored flowers, including the older Hemerocallis 'Milk Chocolate' (Carney 1967) and the newer H. 'Coffee to Go' (Anderson-H. 2003). We were greeted with good news regarding George Carleton's recovery.

On December 8, we gathered for our Christmas party and elected officers for the coming year. A few days prior we were saddened to learn that long-time member of the club, Jack Harrison, had passed away. We arranged to meet earlier in the morning, so that we could attend his funeral service in the afternoon. Jack was a dear soul to all of us. He served as VP for Region 14 (1987-1988) and as Director for Region 14 (1990-1995), doing which term he was elected Vice President of AHS. In 1997 he received the AHS Regional Service Award, and in 1998 was named the recipient of the Helen Field Fischer Gold Medal, the highest honor the AHS bestows upon an individual.

ow! What a fantastic plant sale (to quote Roger Hooper)! We made over $3,000.00, thanks to all the hard work of our members and the fact that the temperature was not too hot and the sun hid behind the clouds. We had to have two check out lines! Each customer received a rack card and an invitation to our club meetings with a number of people expressing interest. Finally the plants were all sold, and we were able to pick up before the rain moved in.

In July our club enjoyed an outing to the Lewis Garden in Blossomwood, SE Huntsville. Herb Lewis has optimized land purchased behind his house to attract song birds. It was a joy to see the variety of plants he has added and the unique water features of his property. If you visit the Huntsville Botanical Garden, be sure to see the wall of bird photos that Herb has donated. They are in the Table Restaurant.

Rich Howard of Wallingford, Connecticut, got up from a hospital bed to bring our program in August. Most of his daylilies are grown in pots and are of course cold hardy. He has been hybridizing for over 10 years, and has quite a few of his own varieties. He grows over 1700 named varieties as well as other perennials and some unusual annuals. An interesting presentation!

September brought Stephen Smith of Brandywine Daylily Garden to our club. Stephen is the Seed Collection Manager working under internationally known author and seedsman William Woys Weaver. His heirloom seed passion has allowed him to hold the largest collection of heirloom/heritage corn in North America, at 1900 varieties. Stephen has registered 22 cultivars in his career. He has made good progress in his short years of hybridizing, but then both of his parents are hybridizers, too.

Our October meeting had Nikki Schmith of "A Girl and Her Garden.Com" scheduled to speak, but due to her mother's heart attack, and her role as caregiver, she was unable to speak to us. We hope and pray that her mother's condition improves.

Roger has worked hard to line up outstanding speakers for 2019, and we are looking forward to hearing what they have to say and seeing their beautiful flowers. Included are Mark Carpenter, Phyllis and Jim Riddle, David Kirchhoff and Mort Morss, Lucas Holman, Bruce Kovach, Margo Reed and Jim Murphy.

fter a lazy summer, our fall was a busy time. September was devoted to the daylily gardens at the Dothan Area Botanical Gardens (DABG). We dug and divided all 350 daylilies. Soil was amended and tilled and a double fan of each daylily replanted.

October was auction time. We sold 150 double fans gleaned from the gardens at DABG. It was a successful fund raiser and our members went home with some nice daylilies.

We are hoping we will have lots of blooms for our show in 2019. We are now looking forward to a fun gift exchange at our November/December meeting.

The 2018-2019 year for HADS began even before our first meeting this fall. Members met in early September to work on the public beds at Lake Terrace Convention Center, the Hattiesburg Zoo, and the Petal Public Library.

The first HADS meeting, September 16, was a bit chaotic since we were moved from our usual meeting place at the Extension Service Conference Room to the "Shelter" next door because of a booking error. Being a resilient bunch, we adapted to the limited furnishings, poor acoustics, etc., and went about business as usual. The meeting featured incoming Region 14 President/HADS member, Henry Little. Henry discussed his ideas concerning Region 14, and emphasized the importance of HADS members being members of AHS/ADS.

Quite a number of HADS members traveled to Meridian for the Region 14 Fall Meeting. The Meridian Daylily Society had worked hard, and the result was a wonderful meeting. When everyone works together, a small club can achieve great things. Thank You, Meridian! Of course, we were proud of Earl Watts when RP Terese Goodson presented him the 2017 David Hall Regional Award. We cheered again when Hemerocallis 'Suburban Nancy Gayle' was announced as the winner of the 2018 Region 14 Popularity Poll.

In October, Bill and Diana Waldrop of Kennesaw Mountain Daylilies in Marietta, GA, visited HADS. We always enjoy Bill, his advice on growing daylilies, the plants he brings, and the evident pride in granddaughter Lily. This time, he and Diana regaled us with their experiences providing daylilies for the upcoming movie, MULE. It was fun listening to them. Now, we all can't wait to see the movie—isn't it interesting that Clint Eastwood's last movie (supposedly) is about a daylily hybridizer?

We are looking forward to our Christmas luncheon. HADS members love to "meet, greet, and eat." We also enjoy playing Christmas bingo especially when the prizes are daylilies!! The holidays are a time of rest and relaxation for HADS members. We need the lull before the storm of activity that will begin in January.

January will bring Scott Elliott from Georgia; February, the Salters from Florida; and March, the Franklins from Alpharetta, GA. All the while, HADS will be continue to prepare for the Region 14 Spring Meeting in May, and the 24th annual show in June!

We hope everyone in Region 14 is making plans to join us May 23-25 for the Spring Meeting in Hattiesburg, MS—A DAYLILY CITY! If you are not currently a garden judge or exhibition judge, please consider taking the workshops and clinics that will be available. If you are already a garden judge or exhibition judge, check your status and take a refresher, if needed. We will be looking for YOU in May!!

MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY, HEALTHY NEW YEAR!! HOPE YOUR BLOOMS ARE BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER!!

Our annual club barbecue potluck was held in July and was hosted by our Vice President, Mark Flynn. We enjoyed lots of great food and fellowship, followed by a short business meeting. Our September meeting was a planning session for the Fall Regional Meeting to be hosted by our club. Plans were finalized and details ironed out for the event.

On October 6th, our club hosted the Region 14 Regional Meeting at the Northeast Conference Center in Meridian, MS. Bill Waldrop of Kennesaw Mountain Daylilies in Marietta, GA, was the guest speaker for the event.

Hybridizer Tim Bell of Bell's Daylily Garden in Sycamore, GA, gave an awesome presentation and plant auction at our November meeting. Guests from Hattiesburg, Brookhaven, and Columbus along with members and local guests were entertained with Tim's wonderful wit while receiving excellent advice on growing daylilies and companion plants.

Our annual club Christmas party was held December 1st and hosted at the home of our president, Lois Smith. After a wonderful potluck meal, we held a short planning meeting for next year.

In September Eric Simpson came to speak with our club, showed us his beautiful introductions and answered countless questions. Holding our first plant auction of the year, bids were fast and furious. Only the hardy survived.

On September 15 we participated in the Harrison County Master Gardener 2018 Garden Expo. Judy Harrison, Bonnie Lingel, Barbara Register, and I manned a booth from which we handed out information sheets on daylily care and planting, our society's schedule, and a free daylily seedling. We gave out over 125 seedlings and had 28 people sign up for additional society information.

Several of our members attended the Region 14's Fall Regional in Meridian, MS. A great time was had by all, especially during an auction that kept everyone's hand on their paddles and their paddles in the air trying to get one of the beautiful plants available for auction. One of our members enjoyed the Regional meeting so much that she was the first person to sign up for the 2019 Spring Regional to be held in Hattiesburg, MS.

At our October meeting Bill & Diane Waldrop from Kennesaw Mountain Daylilies did a wonderful presentation of his latest introductions and his part in supplying daylilies for the upcoming movie "The Mule." Wow! He met Clint Eastwood!

Everyone is looking forward to having our Christmas meeting at Salvetti's Italian Grill in Ocean Springs, MS. After lunch, we will have our annual daylily bingo for a chance to win one of the awesome prizes.

After the holidays we have a full schedule of speakers, dig days, our show, and the Region 14's Spring Regional to attend.

March, April, September, December

President:	Linda Beck
Secretary:	Martha Stancil
Treasurer:	Juanice Hayes
Auditor/Parliamentarian:	Troy Beck

We want to express our appreciation to Mr. Oliver Billingslea for an excellent job in publishing The Dixie Daylily. Not only the beautiful photography of daylilies, gardens and articles, but sharing the history of Brookgreen Gardens in South Carolina in our Summer/Fall edition.

Over the past five years, we have lost several members to sickness, moving out-of-state, and living in areas too far to drive to meetings. So, retaining membership has been a struggle for our club.

Juanice Hayes, along with Sarah Lunsford, made a daylily excursion to Blue Ridge Daylilies in Alexander, near Asheville, NC, the second week in July. Bob Selman and Eric Simpson have made this garden a beautiful, magical place. All daylilies were outstanding.

The Regional meeting in Meridian, Saturday, October 6, was attended by Juanice Hayes. Terese Goodson, Region 14 President, conducted Regional business. Ms. Goodson announced that Henry Little will be the new President in January 2019. The guest speaker, Bill Waldrop, from Kennesaw Mountain Daylily Gardens located in Marietta, GA, presented a very interesting report about his daylily program. We had a delicious box lunch from McAlisters. The meeting closed with the Plant Auction with donations from Bill & Diana Waldrop, Henry & Lisa Little, John & Nancy Falck, Tim Bell, Jim & Phyllis Riddle, Charles Plaisance, Eric Simpson, B.J. Yance, and Jesse & Terah George.

Happy Gardening in 2019!

A Tribute to William J. (Jack) Harrison by Ken Cobb, AHS Archivist/Historian

AHS E-Mail Robin, December 6, 2018

Jack Harrison was the senior member, and most experienced, of the Board members when as AHS President I appointed him to be AHS VP for 1994-95. I created a committee, which existed for two years, called Administrative Services just for him due to the broad scope of his expertise. He worked closely with the General Counsel on many issues. Basically, it was to implement effective internal controls on our financial affairs. He dealt with all the AHS insurance issues. He got non-current publications converted to a paid position. He was an expert on parliamentary procedures, insurance, and was involved in the study of using an outside auditor—something we were a bit late in implementing, sadly. I was fortunate to have him and the late Earlene Garber, who both knew Robert's Rules, to help me keep long disjointed discussions in check—somewhat. I still recall, after some long-winded discussions with more than one person talking at once, one or both of them saying something like, "I don't believe we have a motion on the floor, Ken!" Maybe that is why board meetings ran until after 5 p.m. at summer conventions and 11/2 days in the fall. I needed two parliamentarians to keep things in check.

Jack's board reports typically asked penetrating questions for the board to solve. Some dealt with the ability of Special Chairs, as ex officio members of the Board, being able to present motions—they cannot to this day. He proposed bylaws changes related to the election of RVPs (now RP). With his recommendation, we were able to move Hawaii from Region 8 to 7 and include British Columbia in Region 8. It was only years later that I discovered that the Board in 1948 or 49 said all Canadian provinces should be assigned to the adjacent US region. He also brought up the touchy subject of reapportionment of the large regions 2, 3, and 4, which he proposed could be split, adding 3 new directors "to bring important committee assignments back to the Board." That never happened!

That latter statement was one of several on which we disagreed. (Jack was not a "yes" man. He spoke what he believed from experience in both his vocation and daylily avocation. He was one of the most, if not the most, influential VPs I have known over the years, and I valued his advice.) Today I must laugh at the 1994/95 Board for feeling that my having about 9 Special Chairs was taking too many key jobs off-board. We also had 5 staff members. Today we have approximately 7 staff and 17 Special Chairs with a far smaller membership than the 90s.

At the time, I frequently felt we were not accomplishing as much as we should. I still recall Nell Jessup's comment to me, "You have to play the hand you are dealt!" In retrospect, especially due to the diligence of directors like Jack, we at least set the foundation for many things that eventually transpired. His wisdom was appreciated and listened to by the others.

Jack deservedly received the Helen Field Fischer Gold Medal for service. Until today, I had not thought of those two years as being "golden" years, yet eventually 4 of the 5 staff, and 6 other directors of those years would also receive the HFF Gold Medal.

Jack's active service, not just to AHS but also to Region 14 for many decades, will be remembered as we honor his memory.

In Memoriam: W.J. "Jack" Harrison

by Olíver Bíllíngslea

When Claude Monet painted his garden at Giverny, he was rendering on canvas the interrelationship between his garden and his personal temperament. As an impressionist, he sought to render his perceptions in vibrant, sensory colors that express a certain joie de vivre. Few gardens in Region 14 better express this joy of life than that of Jack and Amalia Harrison in Montgomery, Alabasma. In its layout and palette of exquisite color, the Harrison garden is Montgomery's own Giverny. Instead of water lilies and the abundance of grainstacks, Jack and Amalia have devoted their labor to painting with daylilies. —from The Dixie Daylily, Summer/Fall 2004.

And so it was, as editor, I began an article on the Harrison garden in my first issue of The Dixie Daylily. If I was a bit eflusive in praising their temperament and spirit, everything I said was true. The Harrisons did all the work themselves in creating this little piece of heaven to share with others.

How we miss them!

I had known W.J. "Jack" Harrison almost from the time we moved to Montgomery in 1970. Over the years, I learned of Jack's service to Region 14 and to AHS; so when I discovered that our Region had not nominated anyone for regional service for several years, I wrote a letter nominating him for the AHS Regional Service Award for 1997, and the next year I wrote to the AHS, nominating him for the Helen Field Fischer Gold Medal.

In doing research for this tribute, I came across an excellent write-up in the the 1998 Winter issue of The Day-lily Journal, co-authored by Lorene Smith of Cottondale, Alabama, and Barbara Watts of Hattiesburg, Mississippi. It is a beautifully written acknowledgement of Jack's distinguished and meritorious service, and very much worth reprinting here:

"A trip to the blue waters and sugar-like sands of the Gulf Coast, a favorite destination of residents of central Alabama who are looking for rest and relaxation, was the excursion that resulted in a passion that would span three decades, touch the lives of thousands, and bring the highest personal award of the American Hemerocallis Society to W.J. "Jack" Harrison of Montgomery, Alabama. Jack and his wife, Amalia, happened to see an ad for daylilies while visiting the Gulf shores and, needing a break in activities, they drove by to take a look. These two were not unlike people then, and even today, who thought daylilies only came in the sunny colors of yellow and orange. To their amazement, they were treated to a sight that covered the entire spectrum of the color wheel. They could not contain their excitement, and Amalia began choosing an assortment of colors of cultivars to take back to Montgomery. With their backgrounds in education and the library system, it is not surprising that they delved into all the material they could find on these beautiful flowers. The local club that the Harrisons joined had very little knowledge of the national organization, and this also became a part of Jack's research. Believing that you should not just be 'attached to,' but should be a 'part of,' Jack became involved in the AHS and encouraged other club members to join and to become active participants. In 1987-

1988, Jack served as Regional Vice President of Region 14. During his term, the newsletter, which he edited, was given the name The Dixie Daylily. He was also instrumental in the establishment of a Region 14 fall meeting. In 1990. he was elected to represent Region 14 on the AHS Board of Directors. During this time, he served in many capacities, including Vice President, and acquired knowledge concerning every aspect of the organization. This knowledge has served him well, and his attention to detail resulted in his being asked to serve as Protocol Chair. He also later served as tabulator for Awards and Honors. Jack retired as State Commissioner of Insurance of Alabama. His expertise in this field was of great assistance in drawing up a liability plan that provides protection to the AHS members during official club, regional and national activities. He monitors this program and works with the carrier to be sure it is responsive to the needs of the Society. It is important to Jack that the regions be in accord with the national; consequently, he strives to keep the Region 14 guidelines and by-laws updated to conform with those of AHS, by bringing these matters to the attention of the members at business meetings. Jack sets an example for the membership by his activities as an Exhibition Judge, Garden Judge and Instructor. He is probably one of the most generous people in giving daylilies to encourage new enthusiasts, providing daylilies for the auctions at all levels of the organization, and keeping his garden as an incentive to anyone who might aspire to become involved in growing daylilies. His sister Betty remembers the early stages of the Montgomery garden when Jack convinced her that you should enhance the daylily garden with companion plants and areas of interest, such as a water garden, painstakingly dug-inch by inch, foot by foot-that would add to the aesthetic quality of his garden, long before the time when water gardens were the 'in' thing. Though not large of stature, he stands tall among the leaders of the AHS, though he speaks softly. His is a voice to be heard concerning Society matters, because always foremost in his mind is what is best for the organization in supporting our purpose 'to promote, encourage and foster the development and improvement of the genus Hemerocallis and public interest therein' by all suitable and appropriate means."

In memorium, Jack's generous soul sought to serve others, rather than himself. At last he is reunited with his daughter Vivian and his beloved Amalia.

About Your Editor

A member of the Board of Directors for the American Hemerocallis Society (1996-2001; 2014-2018), Oliver Billingslea grew up on a farm in Madison County, Mississippi, where his family raised cows and cotton. After graduating from Canton High School, he attended the University of Mississippi, where he majored in English. He spent a year as an exchange student at the University of Mainz in Germany, completed his Master's degree at Johns Hopkins University, and his Ph.D. at the University of Wisconsin.

In 1970 he joined the faculty at Auburn University Montgomery, teaching in its English department until his retirement in 2011. He has authored articles on the American writers, William Faulkner and Stephen Crane. In 1980, he wrote and directed a version of Herman Melville's Billy Budd, Sailor for Theatre AUM. In 1995, he was honored with the Distinguished Teaching Award at AUM.

His other interests over the years have included photography, coaching soccer, singing with the Montgomery Chorale, and gardening. The Billingslea garden has been open on four occasions for spring tours. Most recently, it has been selected as a Garden of the Week, and will launch the national website's thirteenth season, December 8, 2018.

A member of the American Hemerocallis Society since 1971, he has written numerous articles for its national publication, The Daylily Journal, and is also a well-known hybridizer, from among his 62 registrations, having won 18 Honorable Mention Awards, an Award of Merit, and the President's Cup. He has been a Garden Judge since 1974. One of his earliest contributions was to assist a number of hybridizers in placing their best cultivars on the A & H ballot. Between 1996 and 2001, he served as Awards & Honors Chair for the AHS. While chairing that committee, he instituted the policy of placing 10 "overlooked" cultivars on the HM portion of the ballot. These were cultivars less wellknown in their own day, but which over the years had developed a popular following. For almost a decade, on behalf of AHS he edited the 76 page Cumulative Awards & Honors: Of People and Daylilies booklet.

For two years, 2003-2004, he served as Regional Vice President for Alabama and Mississippi, having previously served a term as President of his local club, the Montgomery Area Daylily Society. In 2004, he became editor of The Dixie Daylily, the regional journal for Alabama and Mississippi. In 2005, he wrote a paper, "How to Publish a High Quality, Cost Effective, Full Color Regional Newsletter," which he delivered to the Editor's Forum at the National Convention. One of his achievements as early as 2005 was to institute a Youth Digital Photography Contest, which was successful for a number of years. The Photography Contest was later opened to adults and youth alike.

In 2008, he received the AHS Regional Service Award, as well as his second "Best Newsletter Award," the first having been granted during his first year of eligibility. Three times in succession, 2005-2007, and twice since, The Dixie Daylily has been accorded the "Best Use of Pictures and Graphic Art." Because editors serve at the discretion of RPs, a search was begun for a new editor of The Dixie Daylily. Initially, this resulted in no issues being printed for almost a year, although at the RP's request Oliver mailed out an informational brochure in the Spring of 2009 and agreed to edit the Summer/Fall issue for that year, until an editor could be found. Fortunately, the 2010-2011 issues were blessed with capable editors before a new, incoming RP asked Oliver to resume editorship in the summer of 2012.

In 2009, during his hiatus from The Dixie Daylily, at the request of AHS, he began work pro bono on a major publication. The result was Landscaping with Daylilies, a 336 page, full color, coffee table book with 720 color photos depicting gardening in the various regions of the United States, as well as from around the globe. The book contains information on how to grow daylilies, as well as chapters on garden art and how to combine daylilies with other perennials. Published in May 2012, the book has become very popular.

Oliver's second project was to edit a revision of AHS' most popular handbook. Completed in the fall of 2014, under the title The Illustrated Guide to Daylilies, the new 128 page, full color softbound book with 280 illustrations became an immediate success. In 2017, Oliver edited a revised and updated version.

In 1917, his third publication on behalf of AHS was a book entitled The Open Form Daylily: Spiders, Unusual Forms, and Other "Exotics." This 232 page, full color softbound book, containing 616 illustrations and 10 sketches, has also been well-received.

During his most recent tenure on the AHS Board of Directors, Oliver served as Ombudsman, as chair of Policy and Procedures, and as a member of the Publications Committee. He has also served on the AHS Photography Committee (2014-2017) to help select annually the best photos in each of several categories. In addition, as chair of Special Projects, he helped establish the Lenington All-American bed at North Dakota State University, while publishing his two most recent books.

In 2016, The Dixie Daylily received the two most prestigious awards, as well as three writing awards.

Edítor's Column:

We are pleased to present our twenty-seventh issue of The Dixie Daylily, and as always, I want to thank my wife, Nancy Billingslea, who has done a commendable job of proofreading. Without her help over the years, I could not have put together this newsletter. In fact, it was she who showed me how to put together my very first issue in the summer of 2004.

As my tenure as editor is now at a close, I again want to thank those Regional Presidents who had confidence in me to serve in this capacity: principally John Falck (2005-2008), Jim Riddle (2011-2014), C.P. Winters and Debbie Smith (2015-2016), and Terese Goodson (2017-2018). It has been a great pleasure to serve as Region 14's editor under their strong leadership.

Of course, I could not have put together our newsletter without the many contributions by the members of Region 14, as well as several other writers and photographers outside our Region. On several occasions I have shared my experience in attending our National Conventions. These articles were always a highlight of my writing experience as your editor, and I thank you for allowing me the privilege.

In this final online issue, I have retained my most recent photographic essay, "Travels with My Camera: Highlights of Myrtle Beach," for the reason that a lot of folks might not have had an opportunity to see it back in the summer.

I am honored to have served as your editor during the past several years, and I hope our newsletters have brought you much joy. Although the AHS has embraced a new initialism, ADS, replete with a new logo, I hope that we in Region 14 will maintain the word "Dixie" in our newsletter, even if it is a vestige of the Old South. It grants us a distinction that a more contemporaneous title, such as the Region 14 Newsletter, can not.

Best wishes for a continued tradition, Oliver Billingslea ь
